Congressman Dingell Given Place of Honor for President's Signing of Health Reform Legislation

Congressman John D. Dingell (seated at right) was proud to be at President Barack Obama's side as he signed the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act into law on March 23. Official White House Photo by Pete Souza; used with permission

The longest-serving Congressman in our nation's history and a career champion of health-care reform was given the seat of honor next to President Barack Obama when he signed the Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act into law on March 23. The signing was a personal and professional victory for John D. Dingell (D-MI15), who had introduced national health insurance legislation every year since 1955, when he first filled the seat vacated by the death of his father (also named John).

After the signing, the Congressman was clearly elated.

"It was my great honor to sit alongside President Obama as he signed the first truly transformative piece of social reform legislation in the 21st century," said Dingell. "I am convinced our nation is a healthier one today as we are now on a path to bring health insurance to 32 million Americans who currently don't have it."

"Health care is no longer a privilege, it is now a right," he continued. "Our forefathers embraced the idea of America as a 'beacon' of freedom and liberty. The increasing lack of affordable and accessible health care had cast a very dark shadow over millions of Americans.

"This is the dawn of a new day, one in which the quality of life in America – which my father, Ted Kennedy, and so many others tried to improve over decades – just got a whole lot better."

Dingell's 15th District includes the cities of Romulus and Taylor. □

Letter to the Editor

"Soul Food" Organizer Thanks Supporters

To the Editor:

First of all, I would like to say "Thank You!" to the Romulus community for all of your love, support, and everything that you gave (i.e., food, time, service) to our annual Soul Food Dinner.

Your faithfulness each year has proven what can happen when a community comes together in unity to make things happen. "Everything working together for good" was more than obvious because we came together during a time when the world is facing economic hardships.

I have seen it happen in all our recent events here in Romulus: Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Day; the annual Pumpkin Festival; the National Day of Prayer; the Good Friday Walk organized by the Romulus Ministerial Alliance in remembrance of our risen Savior, the Lord Jesus Christ; the Daddy/Daughter Sweetest Day Dance and Mother/Son Valentine's Day Dance; the Jones Sub Day; the many fund-raisers held for a new Romulus Animal Shelter; the various programs organized by the Romulus Red Hat Society (a local senior-citizen group) and the Romulus Civic League; and our school sports events.

Special thanks go out to our local businesses: Romulus Marketplace, Uncle Joe's

Market, and Old Country Buffet. Special thanks also go to Mr. and Mrs. James and Diane Poet, who facilitated the use of Progressive Hall, and to Mr. Henry James and the Romulus High School Jazz Band, who always show up to support (and provide awesome dinner music for) the Soul Food Dinner! Additional thanks to all of the participating singers and dancers (Ministry in Motion), and to our beautiful Mistress of Ceremonies, Mrs. Cheryl Buckley, and her supportive husband, Mr. Ronald Buckley, who introduced his lovely wife with a wonderful story of love!

More thanks go out to Mrs. Dawn Bonam and Mrs. Phyllis Adkins, Romulus Middle School Principal, as well as to the American Progressive Association, the Romulus Civic League, the Romulus Ministerial Alliance, local churches, Come-Unity (a new organization here to make a difference under the wonderful leadership of Ms. Jasmine Noble), and of course to all our wonderful school board members and state and city officials – especially Mayor Alan Lambert – who are faithful every year!

Again, I cannot say thanks enough! Your love was felt and very appreciated.

Respectfully and humbly submitted,
Reverend Rita K. Talley ☐

Nominee Questions Taylor Council's Decision

By Tim Witz, business owner and former City Council candidate

During the Taylor City Council meeting held on March 16, nominations were made to fill, by appointment, the seat recently vacated by Herman "Butch" Ramik. A total of three nominations were made. Two of the three nominees ran unsuccessful Council campaigns in the fall of 2009. Rick Sollars and I finished eighth and ninth, respectively, in the seven-seat field, with just 36 votes being the differential between us.

It was shown that, because of newly passed legislation, my appointment would save the cost of City-supplied health benefits, so Mr. Sollars and I were both questioned on this point. Mr. Sollars stated that he would now forgo these same benefits that he, as a former Councilman, had voted and accepted for himself. I stated that I would do the job of Councilman for free. It was immediately pointed out, by State Representative Doug Geiss, that for me to do so would be against the law. Councilman John E. Delo stated that he would be willing to pay more for an experienced, qualified candidate – Mr. Sollars – as opposed to an untried, unqualified candidate – me. I pointed out that my ability to run a multi-million-dollar business for 20 years certainly should qualify me for the position.

The Council, dominated by a loyal majority of the past administration, voted to affirm the nomination of their former team member, Rick Sollars. In spite of the fact that he had been twice rejected by Taylor voters in the past five years, Mr. Sollars was appointed to the Council for the second time. The continued lockstep vote of the current majority of the Council was defended by several members as merely being made because Mr. Sollars was next in line (eighth) in votes last November. However, no one could explain how his first appointment came when he held the same ninth slot that I now hold.

No matter how it reeks with inconsistencies and cronyism, the appointment of Rick Sollars without health care was a good one. What smells in Taylor is also what stinks in Washington. A seed of arrogance begins in towns like Taylor, where some elected officials feel that any prior experience in government, even a financially failing government, has greater value than the experience of a successful private-sector entrepreneur. This condescension blossoms in Washington, where our legislators exempt themselves from laws and programs they shackle us to, while endowing themselves with enormous lifetime compensations.

This was never the intent of our Founding Fathers. Service in our government, by our legislators, was meant to be a short-term sacrifice, not a lifetime means for personal gain. Where have we gone so wrong that we can allow our legislators to pass laws making it illegal for citizens who earn their living in the private sector to help run their cash-strapped communities? Have we forgotten the men who founded and sacrificed for this great country without compensation? Or, the promising young President who said, in 1961, "[A]sk not what your country can do for you; ask what you can do for your country"?

If there ever was a law that needs to be abolished, this law prohibiting volunteer legislators is one. We, the people, made this the greatest government on Earth – a government of the people. But, our government has corrupted itself through greed, apathy, ignorance, and indifference, and has become a government of, by, and for the government. If corrections are not made soon, sadly but surely, it shall perish from the Earth. □

Group Seeks Recall of Five on Taylor Council

By Sheila Gorski-Schulte, spokesperson for the Coalition for Taylor Recall

A group of concerned citizens has formed a coalition to recall four of the seven current Taylor City Council members. The Council members to be recalled are Jacklyn Molner, John E. Delo, Dennis Stapleton, and Suzanne Weycker. Councilman Herman H. "Butch" Ramik, who was also part of the coalition's original recall effort, resigned from office on March 12, 2010.

A clarity hearing was held on March 12, 2010, to approve language for recall petitions. Two versions were brought before the Wayne County Election Commission (WCEC), comprised of Judge Milton L. Mack, Jr. (Chief Judge of Probate), Cathy M. Garrett (Wayne County Clerk), and Raymond Wojtowicz (Wayne County Treasurer). Michigan election law requires the WCEC to review the language of a recall petition before it is circulated. The WCEC reviews submitted language to ensure that voters clearly understand the specific "conduct" of the elected officials warranting a recall. The WCEC approved one version.

Recall petitions can now be circulated to registered Taylor voters. The number of signatures needed on recall petitions is 25% of the number of votes cast in the last gubernatorial election (November 2006). This means approximately 4,800 signatures are needed. Each voter will be asked to list his/her signature, name, address, zip code, and the date of signing. Voters can only sign for themselves. All information listed must be completed by the voter – no exceptions. Voters who sign the petition are in agreement that the approved language stated on the petition should be placed on the November 2010 ballot.

If the proper number of signatures is met and the petitions filed are determined to be in proper form by the Wayne County Clerk's Office on or before July 30, 2010, the language for recall will be printed on the November 2010 ballot. The earliest the completed petitions can be turned in to Wayne County is May 10, 2010. Under Michigan statute (MCL 168.951), "a petition shall not be filed against an officer until the officer has actually performed the duties of the office to which elected for a period of 6 months during the current term of that office."

Voters in November will have the opportunity to vote "yes" or "no" to recall Council members Molner, Delo, Stapleton, and Weycker. It is our belief that these Council members have put their own personal needs above the residents. The following are reasons to recall these Council members:

Hiring an attorney at $185 an hour for six months, using taxpayers' money, to sue Mayor Jeffrey Lamarand to keep their council secretary

- Technology had already replaced the need for a full-time secretary to meet the needs of part-time elected Council members.
- Council members can answer their own phone calls, use email, read mail, and conduct research.
- Section 4.14 of the Taylor Charter states that "department heads shall hire the necessary employees for their department." The council secretary position is not necessary.
- The financial crisis in our country warrants everyone doing more with less, including our Council members, who are not "elite" above the people of this fine city who are giving much during this difficult time.
- The annual budget for the City Council cannot fund a council secretary position. Eliminating the council secretary position would save the city $55,000 plus the cost of benefits annually.

Usurping the historical power of the Mayor, as chief administrative officer, to hire and fire

- In 2008, the legal question as to whether the Mayor has the exclusive right to hire and fire was answered by former corporation counsel, Edward Plato. It was determined that the Mayor does have the exclusive right to hire and fire.
- These Council members chose to ignore this decision, and brought a legal suit against Mayor Lamarand to reinstate the council secretary.
- During the previous administration, the Mayor's right to hire and fire was not challenged, so why now and for what reason?
- When Mr. Plato, as corporation counsel, refused to render any decision as he previously did in 2008 and to turn over City documents, Mayor Lamarand released him and sought to retain a more cost-effective firm – but these same Council members would not approve a new corporation counsel at a rate of $90 an hour, which could have saved the City $200,000 annually in legal fees.
- These Council members never provided sound reasons as to why they would not approve Mayor Lamarand's highly qualified choice. We question their reasoning: Why keep someone who refused to perform his job?

Taylor FOP Sponsors McGeogh Scholarship

Army Specialist Holly McGeogh

The Taylor Fraternal Order of Police Lodge #123 has announced that, for the seventh straight year, it is sponsoring a college scholarship for students from Truman and Kennedy high schools. Altogether, the Taylor FOP has given local students $10,000 in scholarship money since 2004.

The FOP named its award the Holly McGeogh Memorial Scholarship in honor of Army Specialist Holly McGeogh, a 2002 Truman High School graduate who was killed in a bomb blast in the war in Iraq in January 2004. McGeogh, who was 19 years old, was planning to attend college when she returned home from the Army.

This year, the FOP is planning to award two $1,000 scholarships, one going to a graduate from each Taylor high school. Taylor high school seniors who will be attending an accredited college or university beginning in the 2010-11 school year are eligible for the scholarship.

Those who wish to be considered for a scholarship must obtain an application from their high school counselor or from the Taylor Police Department. Students will also be required to submit at least two letters of recommendation from a teacher, counselor, or member of law enforcement; a certified copy of their high school transcript; and a 500-word essay highlighting their educational and career goals.

The scholarship application deadline is Saturday, May 22, 2010. The application packet must be submitted to Mary Scabassi, Taylor Fraternal Order of Police Lodge #123, 23515 Goddard Road, Taylor, MI 48180.

Anyone interested in contributing to The Holly McGeogh Memorial Scholarship can send a check, payable to the Taylor Fraternal Order of Police Lodge #123, to the attention of Mary Scabassi at the address above. Please indicate that the check is a donation for the scholarship fund.

For more information, call Detective Lieutenant Scabassi at 734-374-1531.

Romulus "Dog Days" Gave Discounts to Pet Owners, Aided Animal Shelter

The annual Dog Days program offered by the City of Romulus on February 27 was a win-win hit, with pet owners receiving discounts on licenses, inoculations, and services at the same time that money was being raised for the Friends of the New Romulus Animal Shelter Fund.

Councilman Bill Wadsworth, who has spearheaded the fund-raising campaign for a new animal shelter, expressed his gratitude to everyone who contributed to the Dog Days program's success.

"First and foremost, I'd like to thank

Dr. John Herman, veterinarian, who donated his day's proceeds – more than $800 – to the shelter fund," Wadsworth said. "He has been a longtime friend of our cause and given us thousands of dollars over the years."

Wadsworth also thanked Fluff 'n' Puff owner Robin Modrzynski and Bow-Wow Bed 'n' Biscuits owner Chris Colvard, who donated proceeds from their $5 "peticures," and City Treasurer Stacy Paige and Deputy Treasurer Tracy Leininger, who donated and raffled off two enormous baskets of pet goodies to benefit the shelter. □

(From right) On behalf of the Friends of the New Romulus Animal Shelter Fund, Romulus City Councilman Bill Wadsworth accepted a $50 donation from sisters Tierra and Tamara Garrison during the City's annual Dog Days program. Among those looking on with approval was "Dottie," who was rescued from the current shelter's inadequate facilities years ago by Romulus Fire Chief David Allison.

Powers Is New Director of Taylor Library

Theresa Powers, whose library services career started 16 years ago in Taylor, has been appointed director of the Taylor Community Library. She was director of the Lincoln Park Library before being chosen for her new post.

Powers succeeds Linda Baum, who retired. In fact, this is the third assignment in which Powers has followed Baum.

From 1994 to 1999, Powers served as a library assistant in Taylor. After earning her master's degree in library and information science at Wayne State University, she was appointed children's librarian.

In 2000, Powers was named assistant director of the Trenton Library, succeeding Baum. In 2005, she was appointed director of the Lincoln Park Library, again succeeding Baum, who left to come to Taylor.

"I've been following Linda's footsteps my entire career and you might say they are very large footsteps," Powers said of her predecessor.

The Taylor Library has a larger staff, provides more computers, and is open more hours than the Lincoln Park Library, said Powers, whose first pressing need was to finalize the library budget. Another of her duties will be to learn about Taylor's library patrons, which will guide her in ordering books and other materials.

"It's always a challenge learning the needs of the community," said Powers. "Some communities place an emphasis on different things, whether it's travel, home improvement, biographies, or religion. Fiction is strong in every library."

She also places an emphasis on taking care of her customers.

"Patron service takes precedence above anything else," Powers explained. "It's important that patrons see a friendly face when they come in, and that they leave with what they came for, whether it's a specific piece of information or entertainment."

The Taylor Community Library, located at 12303 Pardee Road, is open Monday through Thursday from 9 a.m. to 8 p.m., Friday and Saturday from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., and Sunday from 1 to 5 p.m. For more information, call 734-287-4840. □

PSCU To Grant $10,000 in Scholarships

Public Service Credit Union has announced that 10 students, who are also PSCU members, will each be awarded a $1,000 educational scholarship in 2010. These scholarships are available to any student of any age who wishes to pursue his/her education at the post-secondary level.

Applications are now available at every Public Service Credit Union branch and online at www.PSCUnow.com. Completed applications must be returned to the PSCU administrative office (7665 Merriman Road, Romulus) by April 30, 2010.

According to Dean Trudeau, president and CEO of PSCU, a committee will review the applications and choose winners based on academic record, volunteer service, recommendations, and a personal essay. Applicants do not need to be high school seniors; nontraditional students pursuing higher-education goals are also welcome to apply.

"Past applicants demonstrated a strong commitment to educational goals, and also demonstrated strength of character and a commitment to community, all values that credit unions advocate," Trudeau said. "We expect this year will be no different."

Winners of the PSCU scholarships will be notified in mid-May, and a celebration in their honor will be held later that month.
